

Rev. Julie's January 2018 Schedule

This week, Jan 2-7: I will be in the office for short periods of time, but will mostly be working from home on a part-time basis. I will be leading the Journeys group this evening. I will not be in the pulpit on January 7th; a colleague, Rev. Stephen Atkinson, has graciously agreed to come to be with us in my place. If my energy level allows, I will be present that morning and go out with you for 'First Sunday Lunch'.

Week of Jan 8-14: I will continue to try to limit my hours this week, and will not attend any scheduled committee meetings. Again, I will do some work from home and will be in the office on a limited basis. However, I plan to speak on Sunday, January 14th, on the theme of 'Intention.' Note that the theme packet for this month is linked above.

Week of Jan 15-21: As part of our UU ministerial association's CENTER team (Continuing Education,) I have long been planning to be away Jan 19-26 for our UUMA Institute, which happens just every 2-3 years. Assuming no health changes, I still plan to make that trip. I will be in the office and available for pastoral visits/care through the 18th, and will attend meetings as possible.

Week of Jan 22-28: After returning on the 26th, I will lead our "This I Believe" style service on Jan 28 on the topic of "What I've learned about my White Privilege." And, because I wouldn't miss it, I already have my Reframe ticket!

Then for February, fingers crossed, I'll be fully back up to speed.
